

HealthSouth, CIGNA Healthcare Expand Agreement

PRNewswire-FirstCall
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

HealthSouth Corporation (OTC Pink Sheets: HLSH) announced today that it has entered into a multi-year national agreement with CIGNA HealthCare in which HealthSouth will provide outpatient physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy to CIGNA HealthCare members in existing and additional locations under a simplified contract.

The agreement, effective November 15, 2003, consolidates existing multiple arrangements into one three-year contract and adds more than 130 new HealthSouth locations to the CIGNA HealthCare network of participating providers. The agreement will not be applicable in states where CIGNA HealthCare contracts with other providers on a sole source basis. Financial terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

"In addition to continuing our strong relationship with CIGNA HealthCare in previously established markets, HealthSouth now will be able to provide services to CIGNA HealthCare members in new locations," said HealthSouth Interim Chief Executive Officer Bob May. "In turn, CIGNA HealthCare's network of therapy service providers will expand through increased access to HealthSouth facilities."

The contract illustrates the commitment of both organizations to provide access to quality, cost-effective health care services across the country. HealthSouth and CIGNA HealthCare have already worked closely to increase administrative efficiencies, which has resulted in improved accuracy in billing and the payment of claims.

"With this new agreement, we've standardized our contract to enhance efficiency and, at the same time, we've expanded our network of participating providers," said Bill Lamoreaux, senior vice president of contracting for CIGNA HealthCare. "This will result in more choices and flexibility for our members and greater administrative ease for CIGNA HealthCare."
